Eira's father had one uncompromising rule- "Don't reveal your powers to anyone." But for Eira, her best friend Jayden was the exception. In fact, she's been secretly using her abilities to communicate with him while he has been training at the Fae Court of Lost Sanctum. When she receives news he won't be coming home for another year, Eira takes it upon herself to visit him at the Court. Unaware of the dangers of the Otherworld, she is determined to see Jayden on his eighteenth birthday to confess her feelings. On the way she meets Darius, a fae student, who is also studying at the Court. Even though his demeanor is shrewd and menacing, she follows him into the forbidden dominion of the Fae. Things become more complicated when she discovers the true meaning behind her father's warning and the danger that has surrounded her since she was born. Perfect for fans of YA paranormal fantasy. This is the first book in an intrigue-filled new series that is impossible to put down!
