“I wish you good fortune in the f#$%ings to come.” The Queen of Solice has passed away, leaving a seat at the right hand of the King vacant. Per sacred tradition, King Bjorn issues a royal decree; summoning all available noble ladies to participate in the game of bimbos.

The victor of the games will become Queen and sit upon a newly fashioned throne made of the sex toys of all the unworthy contestants.

It will take many months for the King to make his decision, and with all the noble houses competing for a claim, the danger is immense. But when it is done, who shall sit upon the bimbo throne? With the chance of power and status, House Byrnell goes all-in preparing their gorgeous bimbo daughter Marella to participate in games. All the house’s available resources are brought to bear, training Marella to do what she was meant to - please men. However, her mother Kristania feels the time is right to make her move while her bimbo daughter Marella faces the true test of her skills... The King. This is book four of a series for GAME of BIMBOS. This is an erotic short story with 70+ pages of bonus content!
