Soon I began to realize why he was special. His spirit was whole and beautiful, but his body was not. There was something missing. My heart started to break as the reason he was special began to reveal itself. Pam and her husband were ecstatic when they found out they were having a baby. When their precious son was born, they felt that their family was finally complete. But soon they realized that something was wrong and eventually were delivered the shocking news-their baby had been born with an irreversible condition called Angelman Syndrome. AS is a little-known genetic disorder that affects parents all over America every day. But Pam and her husband learned that despite the suffering and the trials that are inherent in dealing with AS, happiness and love await for those who persevere. Now, Pam shares her story and the stories of others in an effort to help mothers everywhere connect with their undeniably special children, and discover that through the struggles, the pain, and the heartache, they are indeed In the Company of Angels.
