Braxial is an ancient dragon who had never lost a fight...until the sleek, sexy young man stepped out of the forest looking like a god given skin and challenges him to a duel.

Little does Braxial know, the boy really is the son of the Father of Cold, and the demigod bests him thoroughly, then shackles his wrists with the intent to take him home to the immortal realm as entertainment for a feast of the gods. Can Braxial convince the lonely young man to stay--and let him teach him the ways of love--or will he be doomed to be the entertainment of the gods? 8700 words. M/M, Romance
