Marcael is a dedicated soldier who has traveled through space and time in order to honor his vow as a King's Knight, and is now challenged with the choice of fulfilling his duty and facing a life completely unfamiliar to him. Brennae- Raised in the idyllic community of Terraneu, she is the first girl born to the previously all male inhabitants. She has lived her whole life surrounded by friends, family and the sacath she loves. Besides finding a male that wants her for who she is, not what she is supposed to be... there is only one shadow on her perfect life. Her mad uncle. He has sworn to find and destroy her family at any cost and his arrival is imminent. Marcael- He has devoted thousands of years of his life protecting the royal line of a dead Kingdom. His vow has not only taken him light years from his homeworld of Terra, but he has seen too many of his friends and loyal guard fall along the way. Can Marcael find a way to destroy the mad King he serves before he fulfills his quest and all of Terraneu is lost? This is the fifth book in a science fiction romance series.
