Aurora works seventy plus hour weeks for Clayton Ritter, who heads a prestigious accounting firm.

He is the master of acquiring what he wants, at any price. Honestly can't stand him, at least whenever he is talking to her. Secretly, she wants him, and imagines all the ways that he could control her.

In the bedroom. Her pull towards him is undeniable. The master of control, Clayton always gets what he wants. In business and in his life as a shifter. The only thing he worries about is Aurora.

His mate. Who doesn't know she is a bear. Or that they are imprinted. Can this billionaire get his secretary to realize just important she is?
