The former Aniyah Brown had a troublesome childhood. Abandoned by her parents, she was raised in the foster care system. Looking for a way out, she meets and begins a relationship with the wrong man and finds herself in a world of hurt and abuse. Finally, Spider, the man she's always wanted, comes into her life and mends all the broken pieces. After tragically losing Spider, the father of her son, and the man who had shown her the love she deserved, Niyah is once again left alone. Only this time she has a child to raise on her own. During Niyah's journey to put her and her son Levi's lives back into perspective, she not only finds her family, but she unexpectedly meets Braydon, who is a wonderful man to her and her son. Unfortunately, Niyah is torn between letting go of her past and moving on to her future. Take a walk with the New Niyah James in this Iconic Love series spin-off as she ventures through the trials and tribulations of loving her white boy.
