Wisdom in Pieces is a collection of inspirational motivations that come from real world experiences. From failing your way to success to unearthing the diamonds of your life, it is filled with real life stories of turning pain to passion and indecision to clarity. It discusses the true meaning of our innate ability to completely change our experiences from the inside out. It shifts our expectations of depending on others for our 'big breakthrough', and discusses how we must first realize that what we attract is what we experience. It emphasizes the good news that the change we need is already within us, and how the worst experiences can be the best teachers. It reminds us that the desire of a skyline existence can't happen while we're busy complaining of the view from the first floor. We must gain the courage to know we are worthy and able to change our position. And our perspective. If you are ready to create, enhance, or confirm your best life experience, then Wisdom in Pieces is for you. Prepare to navigate your life from the driver's seat!
