A Navy SEAL platoon under the leadership of Lt.

Gregory Lance is sent to Columbia to eliminate a particularly brutal drug lord known as The Colonel. The SEAL platoon is ambushed by the awaiting cartel and all but one of the team is killed. Lt. Lance awakes from a coma to find out that there is a bullet in his head and he has constant nightmares of watching his team being decimated. He learns that he has been given a second lease on life and prepares to follow his heart and leave the killing behind him.

Before his new life can begin, however, the old life needs to be reconciled and The Colonel is first on the list.
