A twisted dark tale of obsession, love gone wrong and love fulfilled. When attraction becomes obsession in the deadly world of the Colombian Cartel it's sure to get suspenseful and darkly erotic. You met the Ramirez brothers in Rubia and The Club. The Colombian Cartel has grown as have Ricardo's twin sons. There are a few things standing in their way of going somewhat legit, like the pompous moral owner of a television station they have every intention of buying. Then there's that whole thing of Tony--the youngest twin son having to debrief the woman he has every intention of making his. Last but not least there's that whole fiery relationship Victor, (the eldest son of Ricardo) and Valentina have going on.

The men haven't changed, though different in their techniques. They will cross every line and break down every barrier to get the woman they want and to get the job done for the Colombian Cartel. The legacy lives on...
